Healthy lifestyles, prevention and diagnosis

10:00 – 11:15

Brain Health and prevention

Healthcare is shifting from reactive treatment and care to early detection and prevention, and at the same time patients are taking an increasingly active role in managing their health. This session will discuss how different stakeholders are engaging with digital health technologies, and how they are demonstrating reliability and performance of these technologies while assuring compliance with legal, regulatory and ethical requirements.

- Vaibhav Narayan, Vice President Research and Therapeutic Area IT, Janssen
- Miia Kivipelto, Professor of Clinical Geriatric Epidemiology, Department of Neurobiology, Karolinska Institutet
- Peter Peumans, Senior Vice President life science technologies, imec
