

Dolores Cahill

Member of the IMI Scientific Committee

Professor of Translational Science, School of Medicine / University College Dublin

Membership of Boards and Councils

Member Advisory Science Council to Irish Government (2005-2014)

Member International Science Advisory Board, ProNOVA Research Institute, Sweden (2008 – 2016)

Member of International Science Review Board of German Federal Ministry of Education & Research (BMBF & DLR) Strategic Funding Programmes: Systems Medicine (2013-2016); Translational Medicine in Cancer DKTK (2010-2016); Integrated Networks for Disease-Oriented Genome Research (NGFNplus) (2010); Medical Systems Biology (2008); Integrated Networks for Disease-Oriented Genome (NGFNplus) (2007);

Previous positions

- Seconded National Expert (SNE) to European Commission Research and Innovation (DG RTD) Directorate, Brussels, in Unit for International Cooperation for Strategy and Policy Coordination, with Asia & European Free Trade Area, enlargement countries, Russia & the Pacific (C1 Unit) (2013-2014).
- Co-founder and Share-holder of PROTAGEN AG, Otto-Hahn Str. 15, D-44227 Dortmund, Germany (<http://www.protagen.com/>) (1997-present).
- Group Leader/Manager (BAT Ia), Protein Technologies Group, Dept. of Prof. Hans Lehrach, Max-Planck-Institute of Molecular Genetics, D-14195 Berlin. (www.molgen.mpg.de/research/lehrach/) (1995-2003).
- E.U. 'Human Capital & Mobility' Post-doctoral Fellow, Technical University, Munich, Germany (1995-2003).

Fields of expertise

- High content protein and antibody arrays, proteomics
- Immunology, Autoimmunity and Cancer Research
- Diagnostics and Companion Diagnostics
- Robotic Automation, Assay Miniaturisation, High Throughput Technology Development and Data Analysis
- Patenting, Assay, PoC and Medical Devices Development, Innovation, Translation and Commercialisation